MICROCHIPPING YOUR PETS

Microchipping your pet can identify your pet if your pet gets lost or stolen and is set up on a computerised data system.

Your pet will have a small microchip implanted under the skin. Each of these chips have their own personal number which can be read by a scanner. With this scanner we are able to identify the owners very quickly as we will have all their details on our data system.

Please fill in the form overleaf with your personal and your pets details which will then be registered on the database.
